

Module 6

Information Technology

Written by Jeff Charlton

This Information Technology module identifies some of the IT and data recovery failures often encountered after a disruptive event, such as fire or flood or explosion. It shows typical vulnerabilities and methods to counter the effects of disruptive event. A business without communication or data is extremely vulnerable and this section assists in developing IT resilience.